

Guessing Game

*The guessing game is over
I told her I'm not surprised
The lies, they settled like a cold rain
Its knowing it all that hurts me again and again
The guessing game is over
Now no more fast replies
No whys, and whats, and where you beens,
Another man's going to get her again and again
Again and again*

*I used to sit and wonder
What she saw in me
Gettin' laid all afternoon, in her bedroom
The guessing game is over
I told her I'm not surprised
The lies they settled like a cold rain
Its knowing it all that hurts me again and again
It was so much better the way it was before
When I, didn't know, anymore
I used to ponder things like
When her love would die
Who, would come along...now its all gone
The guessing game is over
Now no more fast replies
No more whys, and whats, and where you beens,
Another man's going to get her again and again
Again and again*